- Jan Hi Louise – my favourite sister! Are you busy? Would you like to go to the park?
- Louise I'm really sorry, Jan. I can't go out right now because I'm doing housework.
- Jan Oh, I see.
- Louise Yes, my husband's family visit every weekend and I need to clean the house before they come tomorrow!
- Jan OK. Would you like to go out and have a coffee tomorrow?
- Louise Sure! What time?
- Jan How about three o'clock?
- Louise That's great. Let's meet in the shopping centre.
- Jan OK. See you there at three. Oh yes... I want to ask you something.
- Louise Sure?
- Jan Can I have your DVD about the US? I want to watch it because we're going there on holiday this year.
- Louise Of course! No problem!
- Jan I only need it for one or two days.
- Louise That's OK. I've got a book about New York, so you can have that, too.
- Jan Oh, yes please!
- Louise Right. See you tomorrow.
- Jan See you.

- 1
- Man Hi Maria. Are you working at that new hotel in town?
- Woman Not me. My sister works there.
- Man Oh right.
- Woman I have a new job at the airport now.
- Man Really? I work in a restaurant there.
- Woman Great! We can travel to work together!
- 2
- Woman Jack, what are you wearing to the party?
- Man Why are you asking?
- Woman I don't know what to wear.
- Man How about your new dress?
- Woman I don't like it.
- Man Your blue skirt is nice.
- Woman Well it's too big.
- Man Well, I'm wearing my jeans and a T-shirt.
- Woman OK. Me too!
- 3
- Woman Hi Peter. Are you near here yet?
- Man No, not yet. Where are you?
- Woman I'm leaving the train station now.
- Man OK. I'm walking near the cinema... there in five minutes.
- Woman OK. See you at the cinema then.
- 4
- Man Would you like a salad for lunch?
- Woman I want something hot actually.
- Man How about a burger?
- Woman OK. Are you having one too?
- Man I'm not very hungry. I'm having a small soup.
- 5
- Man Hi Anya. Can you talk now? I want to tell you something.
- Woman Sorry Mike. I'm in the car shop right now. I'm renting a car to drive to the mountains.
- Man OK. I'll call you later.
- Woman I'll call you at about five o'clock, OK?
- Man Er, I'm playing football this evening.
- Woman How about seven o'clock?
- Man Sure. Talk to you later.
