☆☆☆☆☆ Very disappointing

We stayed in this hotel as part of a <sup>1</sup> package tour, which included flights and transport. We paid a lot of money to stay in luxurious accommodation in an <sup>2</sup> all-inclusive resort. However, the food was terrible, so we ended up cooking our own. If we had wanted a <sup>3</sup> self-catering holiday we would have saved money and chosen more <sup>4</sup> affordable accommodation. The brochure also promised <sup>5</sup> breathtaking views of <sup>6</sup> unspoilt countryside. In fact, the only thing we could see from our balcony was another huge hotel complex. The one thing the brochure got right was the <sup>7</sup> vibrant nightlife – the hotel was surrounded by noisy discos. Fine if you want the <sup>8</sup> exhilarating feeling of partying all night, but if you're trying to relax – forget it!

drop off fit in get in make for pick up see off set out stay over turn up

I'll drive you to the airport, if you like. We'll need to <sup>1</sup> set out really early, in case there's a traffic jam. I won't be able to come inside the building to <sup>2</sup> see you off, but I'll <sup>3</sup> drop you off right outside the main entrance. Just go in through the main doors and <sup>4</sup> make for the security gate. You've only got hand luggage, right? How on earth did you <sup>5</sup> fit everything in?
 Anyway, after your flight, call me as soon as your plane <sup>6</sup> gets in. Is your friend coming to <sup>7</sup> pick you up at the airport? Or are you just going to <sup>8</sup> turn up at her house without warning? Does she even know you're planning to <sup>9</sup> stay over?

A Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets.

- We 've been planning (plan) our trip for the past six months, so hopefully everything will/ll go (go) smoothly – but it's impossible to be sure.
- It looks like we 're going to be (be) late – the train leaves (leave) in 10 minutes and we're still stuck in this horrible traffic jam.
- I ll meet (meet) you at the airport tomorrow, if you like. It'll be easy to recognise me: I ll be holding (hold) a sign with your name on it.
- Apparently, they 're still building (still / build) our hotel, but the travel agent assures me they ll have finished (finish) it by the time we get there.
- I'll want to have a sleep when I arrive (arrive) – ll have been travelling (travel) for eight hours by then.
- I've bought the tickets! I can't believe I m finally going (finally / go) on a safari next month! I 've wanted (want) to do that since I was a child.

Airport dash

I woke up and stared at the alarm clock. It was half past eight and I <sup>1</sup> had overslept (oversleep)! I was sure I had set it the previous evening, but for whatever reason, it <sup>2</sup> hadn't gone (not go) off. I was going to miss my flight! I was furious with myself – I <sup>3</sup> had been looking (look) forward to that trip for months.

My heart <sup>4</sup> was racing (race) as I pulled on some clothes and grabbed my bags. Fortunately, I <sup>5</sup> had packed (pack) the previous night, so everything was ready. I ran outside. Luckily, a taxi <sup>6</sup> was driving (drive) down my street at that exact moment. I <sup>7</sup> waved (wave) my arms to attract the driver's attention. 'To the airport!', I yelled as I got in.

Somehow, we made it to the airport in record time – the driver <sup>8</sup> had been going (go) extremely fast. In fact, I was amazed that she <sup>9</sup> hadn't crashed (not crash). I paid the driver, jumped out and raced into the departure lounge. I <sup>10</sup> looked (look) up at the departure board. The clock in the corner said 7.45 – I was two hours early. I <sup>11</sup> hadn't overslept (not oversleep) after all – my clock battery <sup>12</sup> had simply gone (simply / go) flat at 8.30 the previous night.
